By Ward Hill Lamson,
Lincoln's Friend and Bodyguard

And His Early Experiences as a Lawmaker

CHAPTER VII. Beginning of Mr. Lincoln's Antislavery Record.

IT was at this session of the legislature, March 3, 1837, that Mr. Lincoln began that antislavery record upon which his fame through all time must chiefly rest. It was a very mild beginning, but even that required uncommon courage and candor in the day and generation in which it was done.

The whole country was excited concerning the doctrines and the practices of the abolitionists. These agitators were as yet but few in numbers, but in New England they comprised some of the best citizens, and the leaders were persons of high character, of culture and social influence, while in the middle states they were for the most part confined to the Society of Friends, or Quakers. All were earnest, active and uncompromising in the propagation of their opinions, and, believing slavery to be the "sum of all villainies," with the utmost pertinacity they claimed the unrestricted right to disseminate their convictions in any manner they saw fit, regardless of all consequences. They paid not the slightest heed to the wishes or the opinions of their opponents. They denounced all compromises with an unsparring tongue and would allow no law of man to stand in their eyes above the law of God.

George Thompson, identified with emancipation in the British West Indies, had come and gone. For more than a year he addressed public meetings in New England, the central states and Ohio and contributed not a little to the growing excitement by his fierce denunciations of the slaveholding class in language with which his long agitation in England had made him familiar. He was denounced, insulted and mobbed, and even in Boston he was once posted as an "infamous foreign scoundrel," and an offer was made of $100 to "snatch him out" of a public meeting. In fact, Boston was not at all behind other cities and towns in its condemnation of the abolitionists. A great meeting in Faneuil hall, called by eighteen hundred leading citizens, Whigs and Democrats, condemned their proceedings in language as strong and significant as Richard Fletcher, Peleg Sprague and Harrison Gray Otis could write it. But Garrison still continued to publish the Liberator, filling it with all the uncompromising aggressiveness of his sect and distributing it throughout the southern states. It excited great alarm in the slaveholding communities, where its secret circulation, in the minds of the slaveholders, tended to incite the slaves to insurrections, assassinations and running away, but in the place where it was published it was looked upon with general contempt and disgust. When the mayor of Baltimore wrote to the mayor of Boston to have it suppressed, the latter (the eloquent Otis) replied "that his officers had ferreted out the paper and its editor, whose office was an obscure hole, his only visible auxiliary a negro boy, his supporters a few insignificant persons of all colors."

At the close of the year 1835 President Jackson had called the attention of congress to the doings of these people in language corresponding to the natural wrath with which he viewed the character of their proceedings. "I must also," said he, "invite your attention to the painful excitement in the south by attempts to circulate through the south the inflammatory ap-

The Knock-out Blow.

The blow which knocked out Corbett was a revelation to the prize fighters. From the earliest days of the ring the knock-out blow was aimed for the jaw, the temple or the jugular vein. Stomach punches were thrown in to worry and weary the fighter, but if a scientific man had told one of the old fighters that the most vulnerable spot was the region of the stomach, he'd have laughed at him for an ignoramus. Dr. Pierce is bringing home to the public a parallel fact; that the stomach is the most vulnerable organ out of the prize ring as well as in it. We protect our heads, throats, feet and lungs, but the stomach we are utterly indifferent to, until disease finds the solar plexus and knocks us out. Make your stomach sound and strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you protect yourself in your most vulnerable spot. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures "weak stomach," indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, bad, thin and impure blood and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" has a specific curative effect upon all mucous surfaces and hence cures catarrh, no matter where located or what stage it may have reached. In Nasal Catarrh it is well to cleanse the passages with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while using the "Discovery" as a constitutional remedy. Why the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrhal diseases, as of the stomach, bowels, bladder and other pelvic organs will be plain to you if you will read a booklet of extracts from the writings of eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients and explaining their curative properties. It is mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. This booklet gives all the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines from not a drop of alcohol, pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

peals addressed to the passions of slaves in prints and various sorts of publications calculated to stimulate them to insurrection and to produce all the horrors of civil war. It is fortunate for the country that the good sense, the generous feeling and deep rooted attachment of the people of the non-slaveholding states to the Union and their fellow citizens of the same blood in the south have given so strong and impressive a tone to the sentiments entertained against the proceedings of the misguided persons who have engaged in these unconstitutional and wicked attempts and especially against the emissaries from foreign parts who have dared to interfere in this matter as to authorize the hope that these attempts will no longer be persisted in. . . . I would therefore call the special attention of congress to the subject and respectfully suggest the propriety of passing such a law as will prohibit under severe penalties the circulation in the southern states through the mail of incendiary publications intended to instigate the slaves to insurrection."

Mr. Clay said the sole purpose of the abolitionists was to array one portion of the Union against the other. "With that in view, in all their leading prints and publications the alleged horrors of slavery are depicted in the most glowing and exaggerated colors to excite the imaginations and stimulate the rage of the people of the free states against the people of the slaveholding states. . . . Why are the slave states wantonly and cruelly assailed? Why does the abolition press teem with publications tending to excite hatred and animosity on the part of the free states against the slave states? . . . Why is congress petitioned? Is their purpose to appeal to our understanding and accustom our humanity? And do they expect to accomplish that purpose by holding us up to the scorn and contempt and detestation of the people of the free states and the whole civilized world? . . . Union on the one side will beget union on the other. . . . One section will stand in menacing hostile array against another; the collision of opinion will be quickly followed by the clash of arms."

Mr. Everett, then (1836) the governor of Massachusetts, informed the legislature, for the admonition of these unsparing agitators against the peace of the south, that "everything that tends to disturb the relations created by this compact [the constitution] is at war with its spirit, and whatever by direct and necessary operation is calculated to excite an insurrection among the slaves has been held by highly respectable legal authority an offense against the peace of this commonwealth which may be prosecuted as a misdemeanor at common law." It was proposed in the legislature to pass an act defining the offense with more certainty and attaching to it a severer penalty. The abolitionists asked to be heard before the committee, and Rev. E. J. May, Ellis Gray Loring, Professor Charles Follen, Samuel E. Sewell and others of equal ability and character spoke in their behalf. They objected to the passage of such an act in the strongest terms and derided the value of a Union which could not protect its citizens in one of their most cherished rights. During the hearing several bitter altercations took place between them and the chairman.

In New York Governor Marcy called upon the legislature "to do what may be done consistently with the great principles of civil liberty to put an end to the evils which the abolitionists are bringing upon us and the whole country." The "character" and the "interests" of the state were equally at stake, and both would be sacrificed unless these furious and cruel fanatics were effectually suppressed. In May, 1836, the federal house of representatives resolved by overwhelming votes that congress had no right to interfere with slavery in the states or in the District of Columbia and that henceforth all abolition petitions should be laid on the table without being printed or referred. And one day later than the date of Mr. Lincoln's protest Mr. Van Buren declared in his inaugural that no bill abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia or meddling with it in the states where it existed should ever receive his signature. "There was no other form," says Benton, "at that time in which slavery agitation could manifest itself or place it could find a point to operate, the ordinance of 1787 and the compromise of 1820 having closed up the territories against it. Danger to slave property in the states either by direct action or indirectly through the District of Columbia were the only points of expressed apprehension."

Abolition agitators fared little better in the Twenty-fifth congress than in the Twenty-fourth. At the extra session in September of 1837 Mr. Slade of Vermont introduced two petitions for the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia, but after a furious debate and stormy scene they were disposed of by the adoption of a resolution, Resolved, That all petitions, resolutions and papers touching the abolition of slavery or the buying, selling or transferring of slaves in any state, district or territory of the United States be laid on the table without being debated, printed, read or referred and that no further action whatever shall be had thereon.

BRISK LEGAL TILT

Mr. Delmas and Mr. Jerome
Have the First Serious
Clash of the Trial.

IT WAS APPENDICITIS

District Attorney Succeeds in Clarifying the Nature of the Surgical Operation Performed on Evelyn.

Mr. Delmas Expects to Discredit Attorney's Remarks and Has the Same "Seriously Noted".

New York, Feb. 13.—District Attorney Jerome and Delphin M. Delmas came together late yesterday afternoon in the first serious clash between counsel in the Harry Thaw trial, and the California attorney who is conducting the defense took exception to certain statements of the prosecuting officer and had inserted in the record of the case a protest against "the misconduct of the learned district attorney."

Mr. Jerome hotly accused the defendant's counsel of trying to instill into the minds of the jury the implied suggestion that the operation performed Evelyn Nesbit in 1903, before Thaw took her to Europe, was "of a criminal nature" when "as a matter of fact," he said, "it was for appendicitis."

Mr. Delmas called the attention of Justice Fitzgerald to this, saying that the district attorney was stating facts not in evidence, and a "very serious exception must be taken to his remarks."

"Send the jury out of the room if you want to," exclaimed Mr. Jerome, "but I am going to get this thing straight. I am not going to have these false impressions fostered before this jury and in the minds of the witnesses."

Dr. Britton D. Evans, superintendent of the hospital for the insane at Morris Plains, N. J., was the witness and he testified earlier in the day that he was of the opinion that Harry Thaw was insane at the time of the tragedy. He had been called upon to answer a long hypothetical question in which reference had been made to "a serious if not a capital operation" upon Miss Nesbit, when the storm between counsel broke. Mr. Jerome seemed thoroughly wrought up. Mr. Delmas did not for an instant lose his calm demeanor, but he gave emphasis and force to his words new to his hearers. Mr. Jerome said he would withdraw objection to the term "capital operation" if Mr. Delmas would give him the word of counsel that they did not know the nature of the operation. Mr. Delmas gave his word that he did not know its nature.

"But you may consult with counsel," suggested Mr. Jerome.

"I do not care to do that," replied Mr. Delmas, "it is not essential."

"Ah," cried the district attorney in a loud voice, "then you do want to make this insinuation."

"The district attorney strangely forgets his character and position when he charges me with an attempt to deceive," retorted Mr. Delmas, with more feeling in his voice than at any time during the trial. "He must upon deliberation see the injustice of his implied discourtesy."

"I see injustice plainly," retorted Mr. Jerome, "but not in my remarks."

"May I ask the learned district attorney where he got his information as to the operation?" suavely suggested Mr. Delmas.

"Yes," said Mr. Jerome, sharply.

"Did you get it without violating a confidence?"

"Yes."

"Did you get it from Mrs. Thaw?"

"No."

"From her husband?"

"No."

"Then where did you get it?"

"From her mother."

"Oh, did her mother perform the operation?"

"No, but she was there and knew the character of it." It thus became known for the first time that the district attorney is in possession of a long statement by Mrs. Holman, who now is in Pittsburgh, but who it has been reported might be called as a witness by the state in rebuttal.

Justice Fitzgerald did not rule out any of the district attorney's remarks before the jury, and Mr. Delmas took care to have every exception he made "seriously noted." Mr. Jerome won his point and the words "serious if not capital" as defining the operation were withdrawn by Mr. Delmas.

Dr. Evans was on the stand all day, occupying nearly two hours of the afternoon session in a perusal of certain letters written by Harry Thaw at the time of his estrangement with Miss Nesbit. Dr. Evans was by far the most satisfactory expert witness for the defense so far produced. He detailed to the jury his observations and examinations of Harry Thaw during eight visits to the prisoner in the Tombs, and declared it to be his opinion that Thaw was suffering "from a brain storm or an explosive or fulminating condition of mental unsoundness" at the time he shot and killed Stanford White.

Dr. Evans gave many and elaborate reasons for his opinion and during his examination Mr. Delmas deftly brought out the fact that whereas Thaw was suffering from "storm and stress" when the alienist first visited him in August last, his condition had shown steady and gradual improvement, until on Oct. 8 Thaw was "more composed and deliberate." Mr. Delmas laid particular emphasis upon the importance of showing Thaw's condition of mind just subsequent to the tragedy in arguments with District Attorney Jerome.

"In order," the Californian explained, "that the jury by means of the wreckage on the bench may infer that there has been a storm upon the waters."

Missourians Want to Know. Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 13.—When the senate met yesterday Senator Hayman moved that the reading of the official journal be dispensed with "because of the desire of many senators to read the latest developments in the Thaw case." The motion was adopted without dissent.

DISASTER AT SEA

More Than a Hundred Lose Their Lives In Wintry Waves of Narraganset Bay.

COLLISION OCCURS IN GALE

Joy Line Steamer Out of Providence Was Run Down by Schooner at Height of Storm.

Passengers and Crew Hastily Forced Into Boats and Many Perish In the Freezing Waves.

Block Island, R. I., Feb. 13.—About 150 persons went to their deaths in Block Island sound as a result of a collision between the three-masted schooner Harry Knowlton and the Joy Line steamer Larchmont, bound from Providence to New York. It is estimated that including the crew there were nearly 200 persons on board the steamer when she sailed from Providence. Of these only nineteen appear to have survived the disaster, ten members of the crew and nine passengers.

Awakened from their slumbers in their staterooms, the unfortunate passengers were at the mercy of the fates. Many, it is believed, went down with the ship. Others, temporarily thankful that they had escaped drowning, prayed that they might be relieved of the terrible pain caused by their frozen bodies, and one man, a passenger whose name could not be learned, plunged a knife into his throat and ended his sufferings.

Pitiful Condition of Survivors.

The few who survived were in a pitiful condition. In almost every case their arms and legs hung helplessly as they were lifted out of the boats in which they reached shore. Forty-eight bodies have come ashore, either in boats or thrown up by the sea. Only six of the forty-eight bodies were identified. Owing to the condition of the survivors, it was impossible to get from them an estimate of the loss of life. From 75 to 150 persons went to their death, and it is believed that the latter figures are nearer correct.

The steamship officials estimate that about 150 passengers and a crew of fifty were on board the steamer when she left Providence. Forty-eight bodies have reached the shores and nineteen were alive when taken from the lifeboats. Taking the estimated figures of the steamship officials as a basis, there are still 138 persons to be accounted for. The only positive evidence of the steamer's victims is lying at the bottom of Block Island sound. The list of passengers and crew, handed to the purser just before the steamer left Providence, was locked in a safe and it was not recovered.

Not Satisfactorily Explained.

The cause of the accident has not been satisfactorily explained. It occurred just off Watch Hill, about 11 o'clock Monday night, when the three-masted schooner Harry Knowlton, bound from South Amboy for Boston with a cargo of coal, crashed into the steamer's port side amidships. Capt. George McVey of the Larchmont declares that the Knowlton suddenly swerved from her course, luffed up into the wind and crashed into his vessel. Capt. Haley of the Knowlton declares that the steamer did not give his vessel sufficient sea room. The steamer, with a huge hole torn in her side, was so seriously damaged that no attempt was made to run for shore, and she sank to the bottom in less than half an hour.

The Knowlton, after she had backed away from the wreck, began to fill rapidly, but her crew manned the pumps and kept her afloat until she reached a point off Quonochontaug, where they put out in the lifeboat and rowed ashore. There were no fatalities on the schooner.

Into Zero Atmosphere.

A majority of those on the Larchmont had retired for the night, and when the collision occurred there were few with the exception of the crew prepared for the weather which prevailed. They hurried from the warm staterooms to the deck of the steamer and into a zero atmosphere. Chilled to the bone, many rushed headlong below to secure more clothing, while others, bare-footed, bare-headed and clad only in nightgowns, stood on the decks, fearing that to go below would mean certain death.

It now appears certain that the loss of life was heaviest among those who had retired for the night. Despite the efforts which were made to leave no one on board, it would appear to be impossible that of the 200 souls on board none were left behind. Those who had no opportunity to clothe themselves succumbed long before they reached shore, and even those who were fortunate enough to be fully dressed endured suffering of a most serious nature.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 13.—Joe Serban, a Roumanian, employed in the rolling mills, while attempting to get around some machinery, caught his arm in a belt, and he was crushed between the wheel and the floor. The machinery was stopped by the force of contact, which killed him instantly.

Tired Nervous Women Make Unhappy Homes

MRS. NELLIE MAKHAM

MRS. GEO. A. JAMES

A nervous irritable woman, often on the verge of hysterics, is a source of misery to everyone who comes under her influence, and unhappy and miserable herself. Such women not only drive husbands from home but are wholly unfit to govern children.

The ills of women act like a fire brand upon the nerves, consequently seven-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, the "blues", sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some organic derangement.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness alternating with extreme irritability? Do you suffer from pains in the abdominal region, backache, bearing-down pains, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, and almost continually cross and snappy? If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous troubles of women than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact.

Mrs. Nellie Makham, of 151 Morgan St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I was a wreck from nervous prostration. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cases of female diseases of any medicine the world has ever known, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the laboratory at Lynn, Mass., which testify to its wonderful value.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; a Woman's Remedy for Women's Ills.

I suffered so I did not care what became of me, and my family despaired of my recovery. Physicians failed to help me. I was urged to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I want to tell you that it has entirely cured me. I think it is the finest medicine on earth and I am recommending it to all my friends and acquaintances.

Mrs. Geo. A. James, a life long resident of Fredonia, N. Y., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "I was in a terribly run down condition and had nervous prostration caused by female trouble, in fact I had not been well since my children were born. This condition worked on my nerves and I was irritable and miserable. I had tried many remedies without getting much help. But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me back to health and strength. It has also carried me safely through the Change of Life. I cannot too strongly recommend your medicine."

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to communicate promptly with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Out of her vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cases of female diseases of any medicine the world has ever known, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the laboratory at Lynn, Mass., which testify to its wonderful value.

TO BAR JAP COOLIES

This Is the Suggestion the President Will Make to Congress.

Washington, Feb. 13.—It is stated today that President Roosevelt through Secretary Root has proposed to Speaker Cannon and to the chairman of the senate and house committees on immigration and other Republican leaders in congress, that a clause be inserted in the immigration bill now pending in congress which will bar Japanese coolie labor from the United States. Mayor Schmitz's delegation favors such a provision. Another conference between the president and Mayor Schmitz and his associates of San Francisco on the Japanese school question will be held at the White House late this afternoon. As the mayor on Monday intimated that the next meeting would be held at the pleasure of the president, the presumption is that the conference scheduled for today is at the president's initiation.

The president has sent to the senate the new treaty with the republic of Santo Domingo relative to the revenues of that country. The new agreement is confined entirely to the matter of the collection of revenues. The treaty will go direct to the committee on foreign relations, and there will be a determined effort to have it reported and acted on before the adjournment of the present session of congress.

The senate occupied the day yesterday in argument on the bill granting the government the right to take an appeal on points of law in criminal cases. The District of Columbia appropriation bill, carrying $10,724,532, an increase of $687,298 over the amount as passed by the house, was reported and notice has been given that the bill will be put on its passage today. After the passage of a number of bills under unanimous consent the house resolved itself into committee of the whole to consider the naval appropriation bill.

Trial of W. J. Davis for Manslaughter to Begin March 4.

Danville, Ill., Feb. 13.—Arguments were to have been heard in the circuit court here next Monday on a motion to quash the indictments against Will J. Davis for manslaughter in the Iroquois theater fire, Chicago, but counsel for the defense notified the court that they withdrew the motion to quash, and will go to trial. Hearing of the case was set for March 4.

There now seems no chance of delay farther than that date. One of Davis's attorneys said that the trial will be much shorter than is generally supposed. He believes the entire hearing will be ended in a week.

Alexander approached jauntily. That was his way. He had nerve. "Diogenes, old buck," quoth he, "how much will you take to be my guide, philosopher and friend?" "Kindly skidoo!" snarled Diogenes. "I've been a guided philosopher too long to be anybody's friend. Will you chase yourself out of my light, or shall I call an officer?" And that was all there was to it.—Puck.

BANKER MISSING

With His Absence Is Noted Loss of $150,000 in Securities.

New Britain, Conn., Feb. 13.—Negotiable securities to a large amount are missing from the vaults of the Savings bank of New Britain, of which institution the treasurer, William F. Walker, mysteriously dropped out of sight in New York on Sunday last. Philip Corbin, president of the bank, states that the bank auditors have been unable to locate securities of a value of $150,000, but have not found any other irregularities in the accounts or cash of the bank. The situation according to Mr. Corbin, suggested abstraction of the securities from the vaults. Not an inkling of Walker's whereabouts has been obtained.

Mr. Walker has been treasurer of the funds of the Connecticut State Baptist's convention for many years, having about $75,000 in securities in his charge. Mr. Walker was not under bonds in that society. The alleged wrongdoing of Mr. Walker has created a tremendous sensation. He was held in the highest esteem; was a church officer and a citizen who apparently lived quietly. He was not known to be interested in stock investments of any kind or in any outside enterprises. For about twenty-seven years he had been a bank officer and was under bonds of $20,000. The bank had deposits of upward of $6,000,000.

Serving Without Authority.

Washington, Feb. 13.—That the president had not sent to the senate this session the nominations of the Isthmian canal commissioners escaped the notice of the senate committee on interoceanic canals until today. The commissioners failed of confirmation last session, and they were given recess appointments. These appointments expired on the first day of the present session of congress, and the commissioners have since been serving without authority of law. The oversight will be called to the attention of the president, and it is likely that he will send the nominations to the senate, dating them on the first day of the session.

DANDELION

Removes the Cause of Kidney Trouble.

A healthy kidney is a filter. The blood goes in at one end of the kidney full of poisonous and waste material. It comes out from the other end perfectly pure. Like all filters the kidneys get out of order. The trouble is only slight at first, but rapidly becomes dangerous if neglected, because the kidneys become choked with refuse, and the result is a leaking filter, full of holes and ulcers, with the natural consequence that the whole system becomes poisoned and the blood contaminated with uric acid. Dr. Edward's Compound Dandelion Tablets act directly upon the kidneys and remove the cause of the trouble. In other words, they repair the leaking filter and make it clean and healthy. THE most important event of the year—and one for which we prepare carefully and well—has its beginning Monday. Rarely, if ever, have conditions been so favorable to the consumer as those under which the sale will be conducted. Of chief importance, the very low prices—right in the face of a rising market, too, sounds like a paradox, and a money losing one at that, but it is merely an illustration of this store's foresightedness in the placing of orders far ahead at lower prices in the anticipation of such a rise in the price of cotton as has occurred—and still occurring by leaps and bounds. REMAINS ARRIVE

George Colburn's Body Brought From Mississippi for Burial.

The remains of Engineer George Colburn accompanied by his wife and father, David Colburn, also J. G. Evans, a representative of the engineer's Brotherhood, and Mrs. George Schleppey and daughter, of McComb, Miss., arrived Wednesday morning on No. 5 and were taken to Medora on No. 7 for burial at the Highton Hill cemetery.

The circumstances of Engineer Colburn's death were not all known here until now. It was only known that a draw bridge was open and that in some way Mr. Colburn and his engine went down and that a faithful engineer lost his life.

The accident occurred at the draw bridge over the pass that connects Lake Pontchartrain and Lake Maurepas at 11:50 p. m. Feb. 2. It was a very dark and foggy night. Red and green signal lights are used to show when the bridge is open for boats or closed for trains to pass over. As the bridge is undergoing repairs it is the belief that the semaphore did not work properly, therefore the signals would not be as they would be when everything was as it should be. Therefore it seems probable that the green light showed to the engineer that night instead of the red. His engine was going very slowly as only one car went down with the engine. The fireman jumped as the engine went down and swam ashore but Colburn was carried down into 20 feet of water. The body was recovered last Monday.

Engineer Evans says Mr. Colburn was one of the most careful men on that division of the Illinois Central and the accident was in no sense the result of recklessness. He says Colburn was a popular and trusted engineer and had a very high standing. He was a member of Magnolia Division No. 196, B. L. E., of McComb, Miss. and stood high in the order.

MICROBES AND MEN

Second Lecture By Dr. Taylor at M. E. Church.

The subject of Dr. Taylor's lecture last night was "Microbes and Men," which he discussed from the standpoint of scientific temperance. Dr. Taylor is a profound scholar and has spent many years studying this subject to which he is giving all his time. He is a firm believer that the temperance question will be solved through science and that solution will be when the people understand it thoroughly from a scientific standpoint. He says that the temperance sentiment already abounds but it is not scientific. The question is not how to stop the abuse of alcoholic liquors but how to dispose of their use.

In his lecture last night he had something to say about narcotics, such as opium, morphine and cocaine and the result of their use. He discussed alcohol from a scientific standpoint, told how it was produced and what effect it had on the human system. He said it was a poison and should be so labeled. He said there was no scientific reason for legalizing the sale of alcohol and that the revenue feature was wrong.

Before the close of his lecture he made a chemical test of a bottle of beer and showed first that it contained alcohol and then made another test and ascertained that this bottle of beer contained 44 per cent of alcohol. The lecture was heard and appreciated by an audience that filled the church.

Tonight Dr. Taylor will deliver his third lecture, the best of the series. His subject tonight will be "God's Message in Science to Thinking Men." Go hear him. No admission fee.

Mayor's Court.

Dan Green, who had some trouble with the patrolman of the Pennsylvania Railway Company at the station here Sunday evening, plead guilty to a charge of profanity this morning before Mayor Kyte and was given a fine of $1 and costs, amounting to $11.50, which was stayed. It is thought probable that no charge of trespass will be filed against Green.

H. Welsh plead guilty to a charge of intoxication this morning before Mayor Kyte and was likewise given a fine and costs of $11.80, which was stayed. There were some aggravating features in this case as the young man is said to be but twenty years of age.

Convalescents

for it hastens recovery by creating strength

Mr. Peter, of the W. F. Peter Drug Co., says: "There is just one thing the matter with a person who has been sick—that is weakness."

"To all such people in Seymour we recommend our delicious cod liver oil preparation, Vinol, as the very best strength creator for convalescents we have ever sold in our store."

"Vinol strengthens the digestive organs, creates an appetite, promotes sound sleep, makes rich, red blood, and builds up a depleted system to health and vigor."

"This is because Vinol contains in a highly concentrated form all of the medicinal and strength creating elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers, with the useless, nauseating oil eliminated and tonic iron added."

"We return money to those who buy Vinol and receive no benefit." W. F. Peter Drug Co.

NOTE.—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Seymour, it is now for sale at the leading drug stores in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

Broken Leg.

Lawrence Kasting, the little son of Henry Kasting of S. Carter street, age about seven years, met with quite a serious accident shortly before four o'clock Tuesday afternoon as he was returning home from the German Lutheran school. The little fellow was crossing Chestnut street near the Seymour Planing Mill noticed Abel's delivery wagon which was coming up the street. From the reports he must have run right into the wagon as it is said he got caught in the front wheel. His right leg was broken just below the hip. He had a gash cut in his head but was not seriously injured otherwise and it is hoped he will speedily recover.

The Limit Of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which race is now possessed. The critical period that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strikingly to longevity. Stop Drinking!

Orrine Destroys all Desire for Drink. How to "Swear Off."

One out of every seven drinking men swear off religiously at New Year's but how few of the good resolutions are carried out. WHY NOT?

Because the continual drinking in the past has weakened the nerve cells of the human system until the craving for drink has fastened itself so strongly the temptation cannot be resisted.

Thousands of persons who really want to quit the use of whiskey and beer realize that they cannot do so without medical help, yet they cannot afford the time or perhaps the money to go to a sanatorium. Happily a cure for drunkenness has been discovered which is to be taken at home and costs less than the average drinker will spend in a day for drink.

Mothers, wives and sisters can give Orrine without the patient's knowledge. Orrine No. 1 is to be given secretly. It is perfectly tasteless, colorless and odorless. Orrine No. 2 is for those willing to take the remedy. Either form costs but $1 per box. Mail orders filled on receipt of price.

Cure Effected or Money Refunded.

A registered guarantee in every package. Orrine is sold by the leading druggist in nearly every town and city, if not obtainable write to the Orrine Co., Inc., 1907, 15th St., Washington, D. C.

May Be Brownstown Pastor.

Rev. Payne, of Hartford City, was in this city this morning en route from Brownstown where he preached last evening at the Christian Church. This church has been looking for a pastor for some time and it was learned here today that the congregation was well pleased with the sermon last evening and that they would probably employ him to preach for them. Rev. Payne is said to be a very able minister and is perhaps a little past thirty-five years of age. The leaders of the Christian churches in this locality look upon Rev. Payne as a strong man and are anxious to have him in the county for the influence that he will have in forwarding the work of the church in every locality. He is a man of every force and power and, above all, of character.

WORK WILL MOVE

Interurban Builders Will Make Hay When the Sun Shines.

Frank Smith was here again from Columbus yesterday. He is losing no time now in getting all arrangements in the matter of the transfers of real estate, etc., out of the way. As much will be done as possible now in getting all business matters closed up while waiting a few weeks for spring to open when the remainder of the grading work and track laying can be pushed all along the line. The fact that grading work has been lying idle on this end of the road for several weeks, and yet the company have not changed their ideas that the road will be in operation by the middle of the summer, shows that they intend to make the work move when the weather and other circumstances are favorable.

Not much is being said about the work up near Columbus and still less seems to be doing, but the distribution of poles and other material has been moving along between this city and Azalia. The weather has been very nice during the past few days but hot ground, in most places, is not in very good condition yet to work and it is not probable that much grading will be done yet for two weeks or more.

In addition to the Mrs. Wolf and the Bevins property on the south side of E. Second street and six lots on the east side of N. Blish street, just north of the Southern Indiana, the company has purchased the residence property of Rev. and Mrs. S. H. Huffman at the northwest corner of Second and Blish streets. It is understood that this property was purchased to give the company an opportunity to use a little more freedom in lengthening out the curve at that point. It is thought by some that after the traction line is in operation the company will not have any further use for this lot and may be ready to sell it again with the lot somewhat reduced in extent. No actual work has been begun yet on any of the newly purchased property but it is supposed that some of the changes will be begun within a very few weeks.

Circuit Court.

The February term of the Jackson Circuit Court convened at Brownstown Monday morning. Most of the time so far this week has been taken in making up issues. The docket for the term is by no means a very full one there being but comparatively few important civil cases to be tried. The state cases had been pretty well cleaned up from last term, but as this is a grand jury term, there might be considerably doing yet before the close of the term.

Among the attorneys who went down from here to Brownstown this morning were: Ex-judge John M. Lewis, Prosecutor Oren O. Swails, W. Sanford Murphy, A. N. Menden and J. Alf Cox, of Crothersville.

John Hunsucker, of Vallonia, has been appointed foreman of the Grand Jury.

Traction Talk.

COLUMBUS, Ind., February 12.—Eleven carloads of steel rails are due at Azalia, this country, this week and eight or nine cars of the same material are due here about the same time for use on the Seymour extension of the Indianapolis, Columbus & Southern traction line. A carload of cross arms arrived Monday and several poles between here and Seymour have already been put up. Track laying will begin shortly and it is the hope of the officials to have cars running between this city and Seymour about the first of July. The southern end of the road from Louisville to Seymour, will likely be open about that time.

Receiver Appointed.

On the application of the Stone City Bank, of Bedford, made to the circuit court at Columbus, Frank Griffith, cashier of the First National Bank, of Columbus, has been appointed receiver of the F. H. Hadley Poultry Company and of Preston Rider, individually. The several creditors, including the two Seymour banks, agreed to the receivership. The receiver has given bond in the sum of $60,000. The Bedford bank is a creditor to the amount of $5,000.

BLISH'S MILL

Will Resume Full Time Running Next Week.

The Blish Milling Co. who have been operating their mills only 16 hours a day during the past month will resume full time, running 24 hours per day, on next Monday and continue indefinitely. Since the strong advance in the wheat market there has been a better demand for flour and some good sales have been made to foreign markets as well as to domestic trade.

When running full time these mills keep nearly fifty hands employed.

Farmers Institute.

The last one of the Jackson County Farmers Institutes this season will be held at Crothersville on Friday, February 22. The sessions will be in the K. of P. hall at that place. The first session will open at 10:30 a. m. with music followed by prayer by Rev. Geo. Church. J. J. W. Billingsly, of Indianapolis, will lecture in the forenoon on "Soil Building," discussing drainage, fertilization, legumens, rotation of crops.

In the afternoon the "Advantages of Rural School Consolidation" will be discussed by Prof. J. E. Graham, and its disadvantages will be presented by Sherman Hall, township trustee.

J. A. Cox will address the institute on "Township Roads—The Law," and D. H. Waters will discuss "Its Improvements."

The closing lecture will be by Mr. Billingsly and his subject is "Farmers' Sons and Daughters for the Farm."

The managers of the institute urge the farmers to attend this meeting and the people of Crothersville insure them a cordial welcome.

"Everybody Should Know"

Seed Corn Special.

The special train to be run over the Louisville division of the Pennsylvania and designated a the "Seed corn special," will start from Indianapolis about 7:30 a. m. March 4. It will make stops of thirty minutes each at Greenwood, Whiteland, Franklin, Edinburg, Taylorsville, Columbus, reaching Jonesville at 12:25 p. m., Seymour at 1:10 p. m. and Crothersville at 2:10 p. m. The train will remain here until 1:40. Many Jackson county farmers are taking a decided interest in the coming of this train and a goodly number of them will be on hand when the train arrives. Our farmers are anxious to get all the information they can on the growing of corn.

No Operation

Mrs. Malinda Akers, of Basham, Va., writes: "I had what doctors call 'prolapse,' and couldn't stand straight. I had pain in my back and shoulders, and was very irregular and profuse. Doctors said an operation was needed, but I couldn't bear the thought of the knife. After taking three bottles of Wine of Cardui, I could walk around. Can now do my housework and am in splendid health."

Cardui is a pure, vegetable, medicinal essence, especially adapted to cure women's diseases. It relieves excessive periodical pains, regulates irregularities, and is a safe, pleasant and reliable remedy for all sick women. In successful use for over 70 years. Try it.

REACHED A CRISIS

Affairs of State Life Insurance Company Have Come to a Showdown.

SWEENEY AND QUINN OUT

President and Vice President of Big Concern Resign Under Fire and Demand an Investigation.

Inquiry Before State Auditor Leads to General Reorganization of Company.

Indianapolis, Feb. 13.—President Andrew Sweeney and Vice President Samuel Quinn of the State Life Insurance company resigned their offices at a special meeting of the board of directors late yesterday afternoon. Their action was made public last night, along with a letter demanding that the company institute proceedings immediately to recover the $50,000 Sweeney and Quinn were charged in the investigation now in progress before Auditor of State Billheimer with having received for voting to buy the skyscraper building now the company's home.

This investigation is the result of the trouble in which the company has been involved since the failure of the State Agency company last summer. Since then the officials of the company have been under fire in some manner or other from the statehouse. Warren Bigler, as auditor of state, ordered a thorough investigation of the company, but it was not finished before the expiration of his term. It was resumed a few days ago, and the charge has been made frequently that the purpose was to help Governor Hanly pass the Babcock-Farber bill providing for a state department of insurance and strict regulation of the company.

The investigation brought out that Sweeney and other officials had used the company's money freely several years ago to lobby for measures in which it was interested. It was shown that the management had been loose and that the officers had increased their salaries by leaps and bounds. The climax came, however, when it was testified that Sweeney and Quinn each received $25,000 for voting to buy the company's present home. They denied the charge, but three or four witnesses testified contrary to them. Under the circumstances their resignation probably will not cause much surprise, although they are among the oldest and best-known life insurance men in Indiana and the State Life is the largest Indiana company.

Charles E. Coffin, general attorney for the company, was promoted to acting president, and the board of directors was increased from five to nine. In their letter Sweeney and Quinn stated that inasmuch as there was testimony tending to show that they had accepted $50,000 in the deal for the State Life building, they did not care to continue in their positions or to stand in the way of the success of the company. They demanded, however, that proceedings be instituted in court to recover the money so that witnesses could be summoned to testify under oath as to the transaction. The tone of their letter indicated that they do not feel they can get a square deal in the present investigation.

The disclosures regarding the State Life have been expected to have a decided tendency toward strengthening the Babcock-Farber bill.

A VITAL CHANGE

Senators Decide in Caucus to Modify the Governor's Plan.

Indianapolis, Feb. 13.—The Republican senators at a caucus last night took what was the most important action of the session so far when they decided to amend the Babcock-Farber insurance bill so that Governor Hanly will not be permitted to appoint the commissioner for the proposed new department of insurance, but to place the authority to appoint in the hands of the auditor of state. This decision was supported by two-thirds of the Republican senators. The bill in the amended form will probably be put through both branches of the legislature.

The house committee on judiciary has made a unanimous report favorable to the passage of a bill allowing Vincennes university its claim of $120,000 against the state. This claim has been pending for many years. It looks now as if it will be paid, as it is said that a majority of the members of the senate and house are in favor of it. The house committee on railroads will make a favorable report on the Bland two-cent fare bill, with an amendment to provide that the fare shall be two cents and a half a mile when the passenger buys a ticket on board a train. There will be a provision, however, that the conductor shall give the passenger a receipt good for the amount of the extra half-cent a mile, the receipt to be accepted at any station on the road. The representatives of the railroad companies are insisting on this amendment on the ground that it will encourage crookedness among conductors to permit them to handle so much money, and that it will place unnecessary burdens on them.

Rheumatic Folks!

Are You Sure Your Kidneys are Well.

Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood. But the duty of the kidneys is to remove all uric acid from the blood. Its presence there shows the kidneys are inactive. Don't dally with "uric acid solvents." You might go on till doomsday with them but until you cure the kidneys you will never get well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid but cure the kidneys and then all danger from uric acid is ended. Here is Seymour testimony to prove it.

Owen Wilson, retired farmer, of Poplar St., Seymour, Ind., says: "My back had given me a great deal of trouble. I consulted a physician and he pronounced it rheumatism. I used his medicine for a long time but received but very little benefit. A friend who had used Doan's Kidney Pills told me to procure a box at Milhous' drug store on the condition that if they did not cure me that he would pay for them. I took the remedy carefully and my backache was soon banished. There has never been a return since. In almost every case Doan's Kidney Pills cure permanently."

"For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no other."

Real Wild Woman of the Woods.

There is in the hospice of St. Julian, in Upper Savoy, a veritable wild woman of the woods. For eighteen months she lived the life of an animal in the forests of Sciencier, subsisting entirely on wild vegetation, and has only recently been captured. Now that she is in the hospice it is found that she either cannot speak or expresses herself in some incomprehensible language. But this is only when she is irritated. At other times she is mute. She is about 50 years old apparently, and from the correctness of her habits, notwithstanding her mode of existence, it is supposed that she has at one time been a denizen of the town rather than the country.—Newcastle Chronicle.

The editor of the Memphis, Tenn., "Times" writes: In my opinion Foley's Hopley and Tar is the best remedy for coughs, colds and lung trouble and to my own personal knowledge Foley's Hopley and Tar has accomplished many permanent cures that can't be little short of marvellous." Refuse any but the genuine in the yellow package. Sold by W. F. Peter's Drug Co.

DEATH TO BLIND TIGERS

Prompt Action Was Taken by Senate on This Important Measure.

Indianapolis, Ind., February 13.—The Ganard "blind tiger" bill was "railroaded" to final passage by its friends in the senate. Although it did not pass the house until late Monday afternoon, it was handed down the first thing Tuesday by Lieutenant Governor Miller. Members of the Anti-Saloon League who backed it from the start, were on hand to push it over the line. A combination had been perfected to hold it up for further consideration, but Senator Ganard offered at once to concur in the house amendments. Senator Carl Wood asked that the bill be printed, and made a special order of business for Thursday afternoon. An effort to table his motion failed by a vote of 25 to 18, but a few minutes later his motion to postpone consideration of the bill until Thursday was defeated. The senate then concurred in the house amendment and the bill will be sent to the governor within a day or so and signed by him. Superintendent Humphreys of the Anti-Saloon League said today that the bill to amend the Moore law to provide for county remonstrances, will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible, but there is not much hope for consideration of it pending the outcome of the fight over the $1,000 license bill, which will be reported for passage in the house tomorrow.

Some of Gov. Hanly's friends were authority today for the statement that he will sign a bill repealing the metropolitan police law. The friends of the governor who are doing the talking say that the present metropolitan police law has been a source of annoyance to this as well as past administrations by reason of the uncomfortable situations that have developed in a number of cities where factional differences have arisen over police affairs. Ultimately these quarrels reached the governor by one or the other faction carrying their complaints to him with a demand for the removal of a member or members of the board and the appointment of one of their own number. This was recently the case in Muncie, and further back than that in Anderson and Michigan City. The repealing bill has passed the house and is now before the senate.

Senator Carl Wood, who tried to amend the Cox 60-cent gas bill so it would apply to smaller cities of the state as well as to Indianapolis, will give the senators who favored Indianapolis alone an opportunity to do something for the small towns. Senator Wood is now drafting a bill which will call for a rate of 80 cents a thousand on fuel and illuminating gas in cities of more than 6,000 and less than 75,000. "The bill will be similar to the Cox measure in all of its provisions," said Senator Wood, "except that it will apply to the small cities and will make the rate 80 cents. Some of those who opposed the amendment to the Cox bill said they would be willing to support a separate measure for the smaller cities, and now I propose to give them the opportunity."

Senator Farber's bill providing for the organization of banks with separate commercial and savings departments, under the same ownership and management, has been reported for passage. The plan is entirely new in Indiana, as commercial banks have not been allowed to conduct a savings bank department. One feature of the bill that is regarded as objectionable provides that the funds of one department of the bank may be transferred to the other whenever the directors deem it expedient. It is provided, however, that the two departments shall have different kinds of securities and that four reports shall be made annually to the auditor of state, who shall also make one examination a year.

Senator Carl Wood's divorce bill was killed by the senate. There was much objection to the provision that a decree should not be granted when the evidence of the petitioner for the divorce was not supported by other testimony. The senate concurrent resolution petitioning congress to enact a law to provide that no railway trainmen shall be compelled to work longer than sixteen hours consecutively, was passed. Senator Cavin offered a resolution to limit debate on all subjects to five minutes. It was referred to the committee on rules.

Drenched the Merry-makers.

Paris, Feb. 13.—A steady downfall of rain yesterday spoiled the carnival festivities in the streets of Paris, which had been planned on a scale larger than of recent years. The Mardi Gras kings, queens and knights with their grotesque suits were driven, drenched and shivering, into the cafes and restaurants, and the confetti battle on the boulevards was abandoned. The conditions last night, however, were improved, and by 10 o'clock the carnival was in full swing. Three hundred rowdies were put under arrest.

Bailey Called It Prattle.

Austin, Tex., Feb. 13.—Declaring that "all this prattle is a lie," and urging that the committee interpose and "stop these insults offered," United States Senator Joseph W. Bailey brought to a climax yesterday afternoon one of the most exciting days' session of the legislative committee appointed to investigate certain charges filed against him by Representative Coker.

"Regular As The Sun"

is an expression as old as the race. No doubt the rising and setting of the sun is the most regular performance in the universe, unless it is the action of the liver and bowels when regulated with Dr. Kings New Life Pills. Guaranteed by W. F. Peter's Drug Co. 25c

S.S.S. PURIFIES THE BLOOD

As every part of the body is dependent on the blood for nourishment and strength, it is necessary that this vital fluid be kept free from germs, impurities and poisons. As long as it remains uncontaminated we are fortified against disease and health is assured; but any humor or impurity acts injuriously on the system and affects the general health, or culminates in some special blood disease. Pustular eruptions, pimples, rashes and the different skin affections show that the blood is in a feverish and diseased condition as a result of too much acid, or the presence of some irritating humor. Sores and Ulcers are the result of morbid, unhealthy matter in the blood, and Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., are all deep-seated blood diseases that continue to grow worse as long as the impurity or poison remains in the circulation. Some persons are born with an hereditary taint in the blood and we see the effect manifested in various ways. The skin has a pallid, waxy appearance, the eyes are weak, glands in the neck often enlarged and usually the body is not fully developed or strong, because it has always been fed on weak, impure blood. In all blood troubles S. S. S. has proved itself a perfect remedy. It goes down into the circulation and removes all poisons, humors, waste or foreign matter, and makes this stream of life pure and health-sustaining. Nothing reaches inherited blood troubles like S. S. S.; it removes every particle of taint, purifies and strengthens the weak, deteriorated blood, supplies it with the healthful properties it needs and establishes the foundation for good health. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison and all blood diseases and disorders are cured permanently by S. S. S. It is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, and is the King of all blood purifiers. Book on the blood and any medical advice desired sent free.

BUSINESS COLLEGES ARE FAILURES

In small cities and towns, because
1. There is not a sufficient population to support a GOOD school;
2. Such schools are usually conducted by persons who are NOT qualified, or who make it a practice to travel about and defraud their patrons;
3. There are few if any opportunities for their graduates to secure employment in such localities;
4. The THOROUGH business colleges are located in the larger cities and are conducted by persons who are qualified;
5. The graduates of business colleges in small cities or towns can not secure employment in large cities when thrown in competition with the THOROUGH graduates of high-class schools, as business men have no time to experiment with incompetents.
Therefore, be wise. Send for the finest 68-page catalogue ever issued by a commercial school, before deciding to throw away your money for a worthless training at some cheap school.
